CATASTROPHE STRIKES!

King's Son of His Body Dies

Egyptians are mourning the loss of Pharaoh's first-born son along with thousands of others struck down at midnight by a sudden, unexplained illness. Residents of the city bordered on panic as household after household became aware of the deaths. Most homes were alerted to an issue by a great wave of grievous wailing which moved through the city. At this time there does not appear to be a household without a death.

There are also reports of excessive deaths among regional livestock populations raising additional concerns around the issue of food following the recent influx of insects and the impact on crops.

Authorities are calling for calm without releasing any additional information but inside sources indicate all these incidents are related as previous rumors suggest.

Authorities indicate there will be military action undertaken to bring the rebel Moses and his magician, known as Aaron, to justice for their actions.

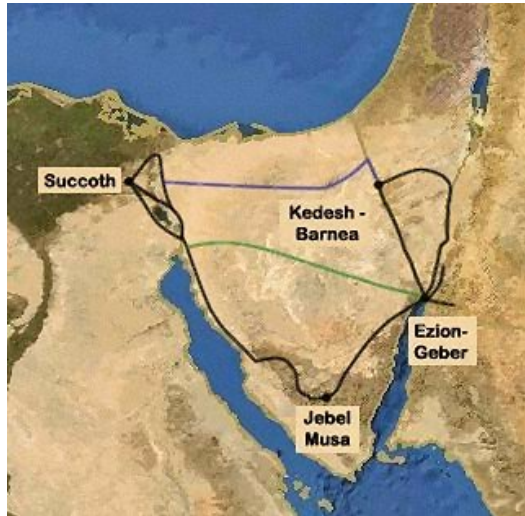

Anonymous sources familiar with the Hebrew situation maintain Pharaoh was warned repeatedly of increasing consequences after his refusal to comply with the demand of the Hebrew God, made through Moses, that Pharaoh "Let my people go". Military officials refuse to comment on reports that some unit leaders are privately concerned about pursuing Moses and the Hebrews in light of the power of their God.

HEBREWS ESCAPE!

The Hebrews have fled into the desert and are believed to be headed in the direction of the Philistines, traveling along the Great Sea.

The mass exodus seems to have been planned in advance and executed with some precision in spite of the haste taken to depart. Reporters in the field confirm the Hebrews have even taken the bones of their old leader, Joseph, once a highly respected government official but details remain unconfirmed at the time of this report.

Other sources seem to indicate some confusion among military elites on the direction of the fleeing Hebrew mob and authorities are seeking information to confirm. Scouts have been sent along possible routes and should report shortly..

ARMY RECALLS TROOPS

All troops report to their duty stations immediately! Military leaders refuse to discuss the sudden recall.

MUMMIFICATION SERVICES ARE OVERWHELMED

Authorities are asking citizens to be patient and watch for overcharging and substandard services or unapproved providers. Officials advise linen may be in short supply for several weeks.
